

Children and young people under 18 years with eating disorders

Guidelines for educational professionals

These guidelines give advice about spotting the signs of eating disorders and when to refer children and young people (CYP) to your local community eating disorders service (CEDS) for specialist support.

Eating disorders can affect anyone. The stereotype that someone with an eating disorder is a young, white, underweight female, is dangerous as can result in other people being missed, e.g. males or those who are a healthy weight or overweight. Getting treatment earlier can make a positive difference in someone's recovery, therefore it is vital to keep an open mind when thinking about who may be affected and act quickly if you suspect an eating disorder.

What to do next?

If you are not sure how to bring your concerns up with the young person, phone your local CEDS for advice (contact details overleaf). They can give you helpful tips. Don't wait and see what happens.

- o Early help is VERY important
- o You are not expected to be an expert - just someone who knows the young person and is worried

Children and young people DO NOT need to be referred by their GP - YOU CAN REFER. In some areas young people and parents can also refer themselves.

Education professionals can make a direct referral to CEDS

- o If you refer then let the young person and parents know beforehand
- o Let CEDS know who gave consent
- o If consent is refused, then phone your CEDS for advice

Spotting the signs

In the classroom:

- o Are they becoming withdrawn in lessons?
- o Do you think they have lost or gained weight?
- o Do their marks have a bigger impact on their mood or how they view themselves?

Other:

- o Are friends or family expressing concerns?
- o Are they isolating themselves from their friends?
- o Are they commenting more on their own body and appearance?

Outside the classroom:

- o Have they changed their behaviours around food at school/college?
- o Are they avoiding the lunch areas?
- o Are they secluding themselves at lunchtime or break time?
- o Are they sitting around peers but not eating?
- o Are they exercising more than usual for example, at break or lunch?
- o Are they avoiding exercise or avoiding getting changed for P.E. in front of peers?

Beat is the UK's eating disorder charity. We are a champion, guide and friend for anyone affected by an eating disorder.

Support for parents from Beat

Nexus

Nexus is a telephone support service for parents and carers caring for a child who has an eating disorder. Through Nexus, parents will be able to connect weekly with a trained Beat advisor, who will provide a place to talk through what they are going through and empower parents to help their loved one towards positive change.

Solace

Solace is a peer support group hosted over Zoom. It gives parents and carers the opportunity to share their feelings and get support from others in a similar situation.

To make a referral call Beat's CarEd Supportline – 0808 801 0356. Parents and carers can also access these services through referral from their GP or calling the CarEd Supportline directly.
