

Assembly buddies are good because when you are talking in assembly they give you advice not to talk. Also they help the younger children feel safe.

I think Learners are good ideas.

Assembly buddies help support at breaks, assembly and home time.

Behaviour ambassadors are good examples.

Peer mentors ^{are trained} ~~help staff~~ to help other children when they are sad or maybe nervous. They give suggestions to help feel better.